Location

Roger Goulart

We source our fruit from 50 acres of mostly Xarel·lo.

We harvest at dawn to avoid any oxidation and to guarantee the freshness of our grapes.

The Xarel·lo is indigenous from the Penedès, and it is the main varietal in our blending. It is a grape of character and good structure, which makes it suitable for long aging cavas.

We age our wine in deep cellars that defy industrialisation Roger Goulart

Following the pattern of the best wineries of Champagne, Roger Goulart caves were excavated 30 meters underground. A mile of tunnels that provide all year round the best conditions for the second fermentation inside the bottle:

Constant 14° -15° C
85% humidity
Total silence

1,000 meters of galleries excavated more than 30 meters deep.

During bottle ageing, we perform the “deplacé”; one by one each bottle is softly shaken before stacking elsewhere. We cause the re-suspension of the yeast, which gives to the final product exceptional organoleptic characteristics. Finally, we proceed with the clarification process, in traditional pupitre.

Grandes Reservas specialists

Roger Goulart

Roger Goulart only produces long aging sparkling wines.

Gran Reserva minimum aging is 5 years. Current vintage is 2011.

Gran Reserva Rosé minimum aging is 3 years. Current vintage is 2014.

Our sparkling wines benefit from the long contact and interaction of the yeast with the wine. This is the common factor among the best sparkling wines worldwide.

We only disgorge under purchase order

Roger Goulart

Our Gran Reservas rest in the underground caves, and are only disgorged under purchase order. We provide our sparkling wines in their best conditions of ageing and freshness.
